"SEE YOUR CITY" DAY IN OGDEN.

Ogden had its first "See Your City" day when a large number of people were taken on a drive over the city, starting at the City hall at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Strangers and home people were given surprises. Many of those who have lived here for years were unaware of the extensive improvements made in the past two years on the growth in the number of homes. Entire blocks of new houses were to be seen and miles of new paving were covered on the trip.

All who had not seen the artesian wells since the airlift was applied were deeply interested in this method of increasing Ogden's water supply. It was explained that, after three weeks of constant pumping by air, during which the pumps were operated 24 hours each day, the natural and unaided flow of the wells had been increased. This tends to prove there is an almost inexhaustible body of water within the artesian basin.

From the wells the sightseers were taken to the west side of Ogden where the large grain and flour plant has been established and where thousands of sheep are being sheared and fed. Near by was the packing plant, serum plant, canning factories and sugar industry.

The trip was deemed a success and the promoters have decided to make it an annual event in order that Ogdenites may get a better understanding of themselves and more fully realize they have a community that is growing, expanding and on the way to greater things.

WAR CLOUDS DISAPPEARING.

There will be a feeling of relief in England with the announcement that Mustafa Kemal has agreed to a conference with the allied high commissioners, to be held Tuesday.

Representatives of the powers should be able to convince Kemal Pasha that the rights of the Turks will be respected without a conflict, but even though the Turk leader insists on going across the straits, the British can gracefully retire by declaring that the conference decided not to obstruct the passage of the victorious army.

But while the British forces were commanding Kemal Pasha not to come within the neutral zone, and while General Harrington was attempting to block the way, it would have been imperative for the British to fight, if the Nationalists defied them.

With the conference in sight, the war clouds roll away. There will be no fighting unless General Harrington has a force strong enough to resist the Turkish advance, which is doubtful, and yet we may look for the Turks to recover the greater part of Thrace and once more establish themselves in power in Europe. The world outside Mohammedan countries will regret this, as the Turk has had a record of brutal disregard of the rights of minorities and he has butchered and massacred Christians over a period of several centuries. He should have been held in check years ago, but the greed of France, England, Germany and the other nations seeking a slice of Turkish territory has prevented concerted action. Over a long period some one of the big powers has been courting Turkish good will in order to obtain concessions and the result has been a threat of war whenever the pandering power was interfered with. This time Great Britain tried to obtain a big part of Turkey and France grew jealous and helped the Turks drive the Greeks from Asia Minor.

IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY.

Enterprising citizens of Utah county are rejoicing over the evidence presented that the central part of the state is to be the site of extensive iron and steel works.

At a meeting in Provo on Friday last, the people were informed that work on the iron furnaces would begin before winter and units of the industry would be erected between Provo and Springville.

Now the statement is made that the engineers of the Columbia Steel company have arrived in the state to make a detailed investigation bearing on the erecting of the blast furnaces of the company. In the meantime, the coal deposits of the company in Carbon county are being opened up and contracts have been let for the grading of the railroad to the property, the building of the tipples and the tramway. Large coke ovens are to be erected.

After years of talk, at last actual work is started on the development of the iron resources of Utah, and there is a promise that millions of dollars will be invested.

Wherever the site for the iron and steel works, the whole of Utah will profit by this unlocking of the great mineral wealth of Iron county and the building up of the industries which are basic in a nation's life.

The Standard-Examiner congratulates Utah, Carbon and Iron counties on the beginning of a project which should bring to those counties more population and greater prosperity.

INCOME TAX AND BILLIONS.

How would you like to have an income of over $5,000,000 a year? Would you grieve and grow weary, if you had to pay income tax on that sum? What would you do with your money?

The income report of 1910 shows there are four men in the United States who are receiving in profits over $5,000,000 a year. Two of them live in New York. One of them must be John D. Rockefeller. Two are in Michigan. One undoubtedly is Henry Ford. Both men are careful spenders. That is they do not demand much for themselves, though they like money for the power it gives and the opportunity it offers to big things.

There are over seven million men and women paying income taxes, and turn over to the government more than a billion dollars. In addition to this, 262,990 corporations paid $1,625,000,000 in income taxes.

It is only within the last few years these billions in dollars have been drawn from those who have incomes to help defray the cost of government. The nation is spending more billions than ever before. Though we might desire to get away from the income tax, our expenditures would make a repeal of the law impossible.
